POLITICS IN THE EARLY DAYS. Adam and Eve Had Their First Tiff Over Woman's Suffrage.

Barely a week had clapsed since the creaon of Eye. She and Adam were having anch served under the palms in the Gur m of Eden. After the third mist julep Adam began to talk politics. Eve's face brightened her long-dealred episcunity had come at last.

"Depress," she coped, deftly removing a few stray crumbs from her fig-leaf shirt waist. "wen't you promise to vote for woman's suffrage at the next election? I should so much love to bave a band in the Garden politics." erne) look crossed Adam's hand-terance. Hitching up his grane nders and shrugging his shoulde replied.

ow. Evie. dear. " here he planted on her undurated line, "you must be little wide. I know you've been her a 2 week aweetness, but you now make that offer all, you've only laste." Calling his caddy age, he strolled off a the golf links, while Eve bit her lip and nuttiered something about "going to raise Cain if she couldn't have her own way."

Anderson Locals. Anderson, Texas, June 1 - District court as been in session all week. Hon. J. M. Smither presiding. Seven bills have been handed in by the grand jury. Among the aest important cases tried was Mrs. N. Goodyear vs. Houston and Texas Central railread, for injuries received at College Station last fall. She sued for $15,000 and the jury returned a verdict against that company for $2500. Hen T. P. Buffington, for the railread company, gave notice of
